

behalf of the Senate.<sup>30</sup> An amendment proposed by a Senator, which the chairman of a committee indicates he will accept, must be voted upon by the Senate.<sup>31</sup>

Amendments Not in Order:

See "Substitute for Bill Adopted," pp. 117-118; "Third Reading," pp. 245-247; "Amends Bill at Different Places," pp. 112-114; "When Not in Order," pp. 111-119.

Amendments on Table:

See also "Printed Amendments—No Parliamentary Standing," p. 106.

There is no specified time for submitting printing amendments intended to be proposed to bills or resolutions which have been previously introduced or submitted.<sup>32</sup> Unanimous consent is required to submit an amendment, have it read, and ordered printed and lie on the table, to be offered at a later date, or to make it eligible for consideration under cloture procedure before a cloture motion is filed.<sup>33</sup>

There is no rule which permits the offering of an amendment to be read and to be offered at a future time except under the cloture rule.<sup>34</sup>

Amendments which have been ordered to lie on the table and be printed, intended to be proposed to a bill subsequently, have no parliamentary standing,<sup>35</sup> and cannot be regarded as pending amendments<sup>36</sup> for consideration under the rule;<sup>37</sup> they are not automatically laid before the Senate for consideration.<sup>38</sup> Amendments intended to be proposed and printed must be formally offered<sup>39</sup> or subsequently submitted at an appropriate
